Like many other plants, cannabis contains naturally occurring terpenes which contribute to its unmistakable odor. Like varieties of wine, each strain offers a slightly varying profile which gives rise to the myriads of tastes and smells we have come to know and enjoy. From OG Kush with its abundance of caryophyllene, myrcene, and humulene to Super Lemon Haze with its pop of Limonene; each one is undeniably different and unique.

From decades of experience in analysis and selection, our laboratory team here at EarthFall Essentials have been able to recreate many of these profiles using 100% natural and botanically derived terpenes.

Need something extra sour? Extra sweet? Extra fresh? Taking things one step further, our team is able to custom tailor a terpene profile for your custom project's specific needs. With a broad base of ingredients naturally occurring in cannabis, the only limit is your imagination.
